Wear Red Day takes place on Friday 21st October 2016.

This fundraising guide provides all you need to know about supporting Show Racism the Red Card's big day!

Show Racism the Red Card is an anti-racism education charity which was established in 1996. We work in schools throughout England, Scotland and Wales delivering anti-racism workshops to more than 50,000 young people every year, while also providing training to teachers.

Despite our efforts, young people continue to be victims of racial abuse every day.

Our educational work is crucial in challenging racist attitudes in society and breaking down barriers within communities.

We need your support to raise as much as possible to enable us to reach out to as many young people as we can and spread the message to "Show Racism the Red Card!"

"Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world"

Getting Involved

There are many ways in which you can get involved with Wear Red Day this October. We can't wait to see the creative ideas you come up with, but quite simply it's all about uniting against racism for one day, wearing something Red and donating £1 wherever you are!

At Work

You and your fellow colleagues can get involved by coming to work sporting something Red for the day. It can be as subtle as wearing a Red tie or even Red socks!

At School

Pupils, teachers and support staff can join together in holding a non-uniform day.

Schools could also run a sponsored penalty shoot-out competition or other activities to raise further funds.

On My Own

Individuals can also get involved. You can just wear Red wherever you are and donate £1.

Or you could go further and organise an event on the day such as a bake sale, coffee morning or get sponsored to do a challenge!

Make sure you register to get your Wear Red Day supporters pack!

How You Will Help

Racism affects everyone and every pound we receive from Wear Red Day can make a real difference to young people's lives.

The funds raised during Wear Red Day will help us continue to support and educate young people and teachers throughout England, Scotland and Wales.

Racism continues to be an issue in our society with many people suffering abuse each day.

We believe that education is key in challenging racism in society. By working with the next generation in schools we can have a big impact towards eradicating racism and creating a better world in the future.

Just £5 will provide a full day of education for a young person

Just £50 will provide a full day of training for a teacher

Our Impact

Hannah's Story

I was racially bullied from Years 3-5 in Primary School. I would be called names and it was really upsetting. They found it funny but it wasn't funny for me.

I was the only girl with dark skin in my class so I was picked on. It definitely affected my education.

When people are being racist to you, it's all you can think about. It's really hard to concentrate on learning in school when it's constantly on your mind.

I did tell the teachers about it, but they didn't really help. We didn't learn about racism, or really do any work on people from different backgrounds in school. If we had then maybe they wouldn't have been so nasty to me.

I told my mum and she got in touch with Show Racism the Red Card who really helped change things for me.

Since the workshop I am much more confident with myself now and I feel I can handle it better when people are racist to me.

"I feel strongly that SRtRC are needed in every school. It can change young people's lives I have seen it with my own eyes and experienced the effects it can have."
